

Jacob C. Heugly
Senior Vice President
Treasury Management
Zions Bank

Jacob C. Heugly is Senior Vice President and manager of Treasury Management for Zions Bank. The Treasury Management department provides banking services to business clients that streamline the way businesses collect funds, disburse payments, monitor the banking transactions online and provide automation for daily investment of cash. Heugly manages the sales and operations of Treasury Management in Utah and Idaho and oversees the sales setup process for clients outside of the Bancorporation footprint.

His career with Zions Bank dates back to 1998. He began as a foreign exchange sales officer and went on to be a cash management sales officer. In April 2004, Heugly became vice president and manager of Anytime Deposits and Cash Management sales. In June 2006, Heugly was named Senior Vice President and Manager of Treasury Management.

Heugly received a bachelor's degree in Business Management and in 2005, an MBA from the University of Phoenix.

Heugly is on the board of directors for Valley Services, an organization committed to employing those with mental disabilities. Heugly also serves on the Utah Food Bank development committee and serves on the Granite Education Foundation Scholarship Committee. In 2007 he served as an officer in the Utah Association for Financial Professionals. He was the 2003 Walk Chairman for the American Diabetes Association and served on the 2004-2005 Fathers Day Council Committee.

Heugly is very active in the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints and served a mission in the Johannesburg South Africa. Heugly enjoys playing sports and taking the time to coach his children in little league football. Heugly resides in Sandy, Utah with his wife Liz and his four children.